

DRY AMENDMENT SUSTAINED BY SUPREME COURT

CHICAGO POLL HEAVY; LITTLE OF VIOLENCE

Unusually Brisk Vote In Primary; Disorders Are Few

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press Staff Correspondent
Chicago, Feb. 24.—(UP)—A maximum of voting and a minimum of violence marked the first half of the municipal primary today as Chicagoans cast their ballots under the watchful eyes of 70,000 guards and the muzzles of the Police Department's riot guns.

By 11 A. M. the Election Board estimated that almost 500,000 of the 1,340,566 registered voters had voted for or against Mayor William Hale Thompson, who today threw his political fortunes in the balance for the fourth time in a mayoralty race.

Several instances of irregularity in polling places were reported to the Election Board and all were investigated by flying squadrons touring the 2887 precincts.

The first arrest was that of Austin O'Malley on the far south side when he tried to vote while wearing a worker's badge for an aldermanic candidate. He was held at the Election Commissioners' office.

On the west side a Thompson worker, who invaded a polling place and tried to check up on whether citizens who had signed "Big Bill" pledge cards were voting for him was thrown out by a flying squadron.

Investigator Beaten
Ralph Hanna, a State's Attorney's investigator, was beaten last night in a pre-election altercation. Hanna was assigned to Judge John H. Lyle's 43rd ward headquarters. Four men entered and ordered a loiterer in the headquarters to accompany them. Hanna, suspecting a kidnapping attempt, intervened and was beaten. The loiterer, identified as Edward Skarlov, was tied away.

The State's Attorney minimized reports that Skarlov had been kidnapped. He said he had no information to that effect from Hanna. The latter, his head bandaged, was able to return to his investigating duties.

The "Bloody 20th" ward, where four years ago Octavius Granady, a Negro poll worker, was murdered by election hoodlums, was reported quiet. Police squad cars with riot guns carried at "ready" toured the district, tossed by Morris Eller, henchman of Thompson.

In the home wards of Thompson's chief opponent, Judge John H. Lyle and Alderman Arthur Albert the vote up to noon was reported light.

In the loop and river wards, where Thompson was believed strongest and backed by "Scarface" Al Capone and his band of hoodlums, voting was heavy with a minimum of complaints.

Capone's soup kitchen on South State street opened early and did a rushing business. The menu was augmented today with stew and it was said that if Thompson won chicken would be served tomorrow.

The whereabouts of the gang leader remained the mystery of the primary. One report had him issuing orders from his stronghold on 22nd Street. Another had him directing his forces from Cicero, the suburb the gang leader "captured" several years ago at an election.

William Waugh, Capone's attorney, said he did not know where his client was but that he would be produced in Federal Judge Wilkerson's court tomorrow to answer contempt charges growing out of an old case.

District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson's conference with several federal income tax prosecution experts gave rise to reports that Capone may be charged with income tax evasion if and when he appears tomorrow.

Kidnapers Of Galva Banker Seek Mercy
Cambridge, Ill., Feb. 24.—(UP)—An attempt to escape severe penalties for kidnaping for ransom will be made in Henry county Circuit Court Thursday by the four men who abducted Earl Youm, Galva millionaire banker, last October, and attempted to extort $50,000 from his wife.

The four Orville and Harry Whiskers, Lloyd Winslow and Vernon Algren, pleaded guilty before Judge L. E. Telleen yesterday. They asked for an opportunity to present testimony regarding the case. Judge Telleen granted the motion and set the hearing for Thursday.

All except Orville Whiskers were captured as the result of a trap involving a dummy package of bills. Orville escaped and found work on a Iowa farm under an assumed name. He was traced there and caught last week.

Common Flies Source of Much Worry in Studios

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 24.—(AP)—And now the common house fly takes its place with the corn borer, the cotton boll weevil and the Mediterranean fruit fly as a scourge to a great industry.

The housefly, however, specializes in spoiling motion pictures. "The fly costs the motion picture industry between $5,000 and $10,000 daily in retakes," Melville Brown, director, said as he rested while the cameramen and actors on his set were preparing to retake a love scene.

The scene, hundreds of feet, had been spoiled a few seconds before by a fly, which buzzed around a while and then landed on the pretty nose of Mary Astor just as she was being kissed by Ricardo Cortez in the fade-out.

"There was nothing unusual about the ruin of that scene," Brown went on. "Some of the best shots and sequences ever made were spoiled by a fly. It happens every day at every studio. One can't just cut that part in which the fly decides to park on the nose or a nose. The whole thing has to be redone, because a fly never lights excepts at the climax."

The sound supervisor put in a word in the general indictment against the fly. "Not only that," he said, "but when a couple of flies decided to play tag near a microphone the film sounds like a naval battle."

Retakes because of fly interference number scores for every completed production, directors declared. "No matter the methods studios employ to rid themselves of flies, one will pop up just as the hero begins to whisper sweet nothings in the ear of the heroine. A number of men are employed in Hollywood solely to chase flies off sets."

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The body of Walter Glenn Dague, electrocuted in Pennsylvania yesterday for the killing of a Pennsylvania Highway Patrolman, lay in a funeral home here today while relatives prepared for private funeral services tomorrow.

The body of Irene Schroeder still was at Bellefonte, Pa., where the woman died yesterday at Rockview penitentiary. Information received here was that the woman's body would be shipped to Wheeling late today. The time of the services for her was not disclosed.

Relatives of the pair sought the utmost privacy, and anticipating a press of curious persons asked for police protection during the funerals. The services for Dague will be held at Elm Grove tomorrow afternoon and burial will be made in Sand Hill cemetery at Dallas. The services for Mrs. Schroeder will be held at a funeral home here and the body will be buried in Rose Hill cemetery at Bellaire, Ohio.

HITCH-HIKERS MURDERED MAN WHO GAVE RIDE

Chicago Men Are Arrested In Kentucky For Brutal Crime

Bardstown, Ky., Feb. 24.—(UP)—This usually quiet town, about which the song "My Old Kentucky Home" was written, was gripped by excitement today after a thrilling chase which ended in arrest of Tony Peterson, 25, and Frank Carson, 28, of Chicago, on charges of killing Carl B. James of Louisville.

James, formerly a science professor at Western Reserve University at Cleveland was killed by two hitch-hikers to whom he gave a ride while he and Mrs. James were on a pleasure tour.

Officials here placed special guards around the jail after reports were received from Hodgenville, where the men were captured, that mob violence was threatened.

James was killed and his wife forced out of their car at Cox's Creek, 25 miles from Louisville. The savers raced south and stopped at Balltown, six miles from here, where they robbed a filling station owner.

The chase began there and at Hodgenville officials, notified by wire, were waiting to snare it. In attempting to escape, the bandits ran the James car into a corner of the courthouse, tearing away 60 bricks and were captured. It was because of the damage to the courthouse, according to reports, that residents of Hodgenville were so aroused.

Mrs. James, whom officials found, hysterical, beside the body of her husband, told that her husband had given the two men a "lift" and that as they were riding she noticed one of them had a revolver pointed at James' neck.

When she pleaded with the bandit she was ordered to "shut up." James, she said, attempted to signal a motorist, whom they met a few minutes later. The other motorist stopped. Ordering James to stop, one bandit then ordered the other to continue. While he was returning to the James car, his companion shot James.

Two Women Leap To Death In Chicago
Chicago, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Two women chose to die by leaping from tall buildings in the loop.

One, an unidentified woman of 40, plunged 19 stories out of the Capitol building last night, missing by inches many pedestrians on the sidewalk. Two girls, Miss Martha Picht and Miss Paula Tavenier, at whose feet she fell, fainted.

The second woman, Miss Mary Louise Hanley, 27, a beauty parlor proprietor, fell to her death from the thirteenth story of the Morrison Hotel earlier in the day. She was depressed by the marriage of a former sweetheart to another woman, according to a note she left to her family.

While physicians were investigating the latter's death, they were called to the mezzanine floor of the hotel where Miss Elizabeth Meyers, 27, had slashed her wrists with a razor blade while conversing with a former sweetheart who was married last week. She will recover.

Brakeman Robbed On North Dixon Grade
When H. V. Brown of Freeport, Illinois Central freight brakeman, leaped off his train as it was slowly climbing the grade north of Dixon at 2 o'clock this morning to see that a "string" was O. K., he walked right into the arms of two "strong-arm" men, who kept him prisoner until the train had passed from sight, then relieved him of $2, all the cash he had on his person, and disappeared in the darkness.

Hoping that he would be missed by other members of the crew, and that the train would be stopped, Brown started walking north along the track, going as far as the Dixon state hospital, where he hunted up an employee and telephoned the Sheriff's office. Deputies conducted a search but found no trace of the two hold-up men.

Death Ends Illness Of Mrs. M. Minister
Mrs. Mary Minister passed away at 9:30 last evening at her home, 509 Jackson avenue, death ending an illness of several weeks' duration. She was born in Savannah, Ill., December 28, 1880, and had made her home in Dixon for the past ten years. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Frances Douglas of Savannah; three sisters, Miss Elizabeth, Sarah and Martha Dunn; and one brother, William Dunn, all of Dixon.

Coroner F. M. Banker was to conduct an inquest over the remains at the Preston mortuary this afternoon. Funeral services will be conducted from St. Patrick's Catholic church Wednesday morning at 9:30 and the remains will be taken to Savannah for interment.

HALF OF JURY IN GARY CASE NOW SECURED

First Trial in Death Of High School Girl Well Under Way

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Attorneys for the state and defense resumed their questioning of veniremen today to complete the jury which is to try Virgil Kirkland, young athlete of Gary, Ind., for the death of Arlene Draves, an 18-year-old schoolmate. Six middle-aged farmers and one young grocer's clerk had been tentatively approved last night.

The composed, 20-year-old youth, who escorted the girl to a drinking party last autumn at which she met death, looked on with deep interest as his attorneys questioned those who will determine whether he slew Miss Draves by a criminal attack.

Emphasizing its intention of blaming bad liquor for the crime in which Kirkland and four other youths are implicated, the defense passed favorably on Frank Pressel, William Alghrim, James L. Rigg, John A. Carlson, John Trede, Clarence Fisher and Lester Durham. Each of these signified to the defense that they would not be prejudiced against Kirkland if they "discovered that he drank."

Prosecutor R. G. Estil of Lake county made no mention of the death penalty in questioning veniremen.

Four other defendants, held on indictments similar to Kirkland's, remained in the county jail at Crown Point, Ind. They are Paul Barton, 21; Leon Stanford, 21; Henry Shirik, 24; and David Thompson, in whose home the party was held. Each has been granted a separate trial.

The state alleges it was Kirkland who first attacked the girl, and that the others attacked her later. Her death, the prosecution charges, resulted from cerebral hemorrhage which resulted from the shock.

Kirkland's grey-haired mother, absent when the selection of jurors began yesterday, was present today, seated in the front spectator's row. She sat well forward on the bench, watching lawyers and jurors with constant interest. Her husband, Edward J. Kirkland, Virgil's step-ather, was also in court as well as Charles Draves, father of the dead girl, and his four sons, Edward Carl Kenneth and Elmer. The defendant passed them on each trip out of the courtroom.

TWO DRUNKEN MEN ON WILD DEATH SPREE
Kill One Man, Slug Another And Rob Two Before Capture

Chicago, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Two men whom police described as "too intoxicated to talk" were captured today and charged with staging a "drunk on banditry spree" during which they killed one man, slugged one, and robbed two others.

The men were identified as Frank Cichanski, 20, and Frank Blazek, 25. Cichanski accidentally shot himself in the hand before they were captured, a block from where an unidentified man was left dead in the street.

The bandits were staggering along Chicago Avenue near famous "death corner," police said, when they met the unidentified victim, shot him when he resisted, and then robbed him.

Half a block away, the police charged, the men met Frank Grawlinski. They accosted him and he ran, stopping when two shots were fired at him. Cichanski, Grawlinski said, then knocked him down with the revolver.

A hundred feet farther on, it was charged, the men held up and robbed Joe Wnagierek, then they robbed Walter Pieniazek.

The loot was in their pockets when they were captured, police said.

Olin was unable to trace the chest and went home without a discharge, fearing his superior's wrath. Due to his enlistment under an assumed name, the records were confused.

Now, however, he had his discharge, will be able to join the Beloit G. A. R. and may apply for a pension.

A CLOSE SHAVE.
Oklahoma City.—(UP)—With deft strokes C. H. Riggs, Capitol barber, was shaving the face of "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, Governor of Oklahoma. Suddenly Riggs' distinguished client leaped from the barber chair, flung off the apron and rushed from the shop.

Only then did Barber Riggs realize that he had nicked the Governor's chin and that the Governor had taken offense.

A move to have Riggs discharged as Capitol barber was forestalled temporarily by a resolution introduced in the Senate by Senator Woody Dixon asking that the legislature prevent the Board of Public Affairs from taking the Capitol franchise away Riggs and giving it to Roy B. Flippen.

OWNERS OF ROAD HOUSES CALLED ON THE CARPET

The State's Attorney And Sheriff Will Lay The Law Down

Proprietors of all dance halls and road houses in the vicinity of Dixon where dancing is permitted, were being summoned to assemble at the Sheriff's office in the court house Thursday morning at 9 o'clock by Sheriff Fred Richardson today acting on instruction from State's Attorney Mark C. Keller issued late yesterday afternoon.

The conduct and practices permitted at some of the places was understood to have resulted in the blanket order being given for all proprietors to assemble for a final understanding of the dance hall and road house law to be applied during the coming season. Reports that electric pianos, electric phonographs and radios were being used to furnish music for dancers in many of the places did not agree with State's Attorney Keller's conception of the dance hall and road house law.

"These things are used for the purpose of attempting to cheat the law," he said. "We have had trouble before, are having it now, and will have more when the season opens up, so the best way to handle this situation is to have all of the proprietors summoned in and settle the question. If dancing is to be permitted, the proprietors will have to take out dance hall licenses, and these places will then be under the supervision of the sheriff and his forces."

It was said to have been reported to State's Attorney Keller that one of these places near Dixon had placed heavy drapes over the windows, a heavy lock on the door, and was selling club membership tickets at $2.50 for the season for permission to enjoy the comforts of the road house.

This was also to be investigated when the owners and proprietors assemble Thursday morning.

It has also been suggested that a system of closing hours be adopted similar to the plan used in Iowa, which was presented to the county board of supervisors for the consideration last summer, at which time no action was taken. Several matters which have been cause for complaints coming to both the State's Attorney's and Sheriff's offices are to be aired at this meeting, it was anticipated.

CONGRESS COSTS TREASURY $1400 FOR EACH HOUR
Unkind Critics Will Probably Ask If It's Worth It

Washington, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Every time the hands of the clocks in the House and Senate chambers move forward one hour the Treasury is out about $1,400.

William Tyler Page, Clerk of the House, submitted figures to the census committee today showing the cost per day of sessions of Congress on an 8-hour basis, would be about $11,000.

"It has been computed," he said, "that daily sessions average five hours. This basis, however, would hardly be a fair basis upon which to make a computation of the cost per day inasmuch as expenses cover all activities regardless of whether a daily session is held or not."

"Therefore, an 8-hour day basis would perhaps be fair. Upon this basis, the expenditures per day would be, in the case of the Senate, based upon the appropriations for the present fiscal year, exclusive of deficiencies, $1,010 per hour or $8,086 per day.

"Computed another way, on the basis of the number of calendar days in the entire Seventieth Congress, this is the result: cost per day on an 8-hour basis for 259 calendar days, $11,398; cost per hour, $4,244."

The committee asked this information in its study of plans to increase the House membership.

Communists Planning Many Demonstrations

While the largest demonstration is expected to be held in Berlin, Germany, special details of police were expected to be on duty in this city (Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Detroit, Boston and Pittsburgh).

New York's principal rally will be at Union Square.

RAILROAD PROBLEMS

C. D. Morris of Chicago, of the Western Railways Association, gave a very interesting talk before the Dixon Kiwanis Club today on the subject, "New Problems Confronting the Railroads." During the course of his remarks he stated that the railroads of the country handled 134,000 cars less of revenue freight in 1930 than in 1929. His talk dealt with the obstacles confronting the railroads due to varied reasons. Economy in railroad operation, he said, was first felt by the public, and he then told of curtailments in expenses made during the past year to meet existing conditions. He spoke at some length of the injustice of the truck and bus system over the tax payers' public highways. During his visit in Dixon, Mr. Morris is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Batchelder.

Man Slain In Ind. Capone Follower

Gary, Ind., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The body of a man found in a culvert near Merrillville, Feb. 12, was identified today as that of Paul Catalina, 43, a Capone gangster.

The identification was made by Sheriff Roy Holley after a conference with Pat Roche, Chief Investigator of the State's Attorney's office in Chicago.

Catalina disappeared from his usual haunts on the south side of Chicago Feb. 11. He was a chef at the Little Florence Cafe, said to be operated by Capone interests.

Sheriff Holley said the killing was a typical gang job. Catalina was garroted with a noose and acid was thrown over his face in an effort to prevent identification. The cleaning mark on a hat found two miles from the hiding place of the body led to the identification.

WAS ADOPTED LEGALLY BY LEGISLATORS

Decision Of Judge Wm. Clark Of New Jersey Is Reversed Today

Washington, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The Eighteenth Amendment was sustained as valid today by the Supreme Court.

Under the decision the government will continue its efforts to enforce the Volstead law.

The ruling was handed down in the government's appeal from the decision of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey, who held the amendment invalid because improperly ratified.

Judge Clark contended that to be valid the amendment should have been submitted to state conventions for ratification rather than to state legislatures. This view the court found untenable.

When William H. Sprague and William J. Howey were brought to trial before Judge Clark on a charge of possessing and transporting 50 half-barrels of beer, he quashed the indictment. Holding the prohibition amendment invalid.

In an exhaustive opinion he took the position that as the Eighteenth Amendment attempted to transfer to the Federal government jurisdiction over right reserved to the people it should have been submitted to them in state conventions for ratification.

He held that its ratification by state legislatures was insufficient to make it effective.

Proceedings Hurried
The government appealed at once. The Supreme Court expedited the proceedings, hearing oral arguments in about a month, although counsel for the defendants sought approximately three months more time.

Contending the question raised by Judge Clark had already been before the Supreme Court in the national prohibition cases, Solicitor General Thacher in a brief argument declared the court had disposed of the controversy.

Julius Henry Cohen and Selden Bacon, counsel for the defendants, contended amendments granting new power to the Federal government over the people must be submitted to the people for approval.

As the Eighteenth Amendment proposed to grant such powers, it was invalid, they insisted, because it had been submitted to state legislatures for ratification instead of conventions.

Chief Justice Hughes withdrew from the case, stating he would take no part in its decision because he had filed a brief in a previous prohibition case, which, in his judgment, disqualified him from participating.

"I USED TO KILL BIRDS"
Henry W. Longfellow
used to kill birds in my boyhood. Bluebirds and robins and wrens. I hunted them up in the mountains. I hunted them down in the glens; I never thought it was sinful—I did it only for fun. And I had rare sport in the forest. With the poor little birds and my gun.

But one beautiful day in the spring-time. I spied a brown bird in a tree, merrily swinging and chirping. As happy as bird could be. And raising my gun in a twinkling, I fired, and my aim was too true. For a moment the little thing fluttered. Then off to the bushes it flew.

I followed it quickly and softly. And there to my sorrow I found. Right close to its nest of young ones. The little bird lay dead on the ground! Poor birdies! For food they were calling; But now they could never be fed. For the kind mother-bird who had loved them, Was lying there bleeding and dead.

I picked up the bird in my anguish. I stroked the wee motherly thing. That could never more feed its dear young ones. Nor dart through the air on swift wing. And I made a firm vow in that moment. When my heart with such sorrow was stirred. That never again in my lifetime, Would I shoot a poor, innocent bird!

Pretty Wedding at Maytown on Tuesday

On Tuesday morning, Feb 17th, at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church at Maytown, a very pretty wedding took place. Rev. H. Schmidt, which united the lives of Miss Catherine Sharkey of Maytown and Orville Schultz of Ohio, Ill., in the holy bonds of matrimony. Attending the young couple were Miss Rose Sharkey, sister of the bride, and Aloysius Hannan of Ohio, served the bridegroom as best man. The bride was charmingly attired in imperial blue lace over chiffon and she carried a white rosary. The maid of honor wore imperial blue flat crepe and also carried a white rosary.

Mrs. Schultz is a charming young lady of Maytown. The bridegroom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schultz of Dixon, and has been employed by Ben Smith for the past several years, and both he and his bride are deservedly popular in a large circle of friends. After March 1 the happy couple will make their home of the Edelson farm east of Ohio, where they will be glad to welcome their friends. All friends in Dixon and Maytown, and communities, join in wishing the young couple a happy and prosperous future.

2 Heaping Teaspoonfuls in a Glass of Milk

That's the prescription that has built up more husky youngsters than anything mothers know about. Thousands of them have written us, calling the results truly amazing.

With meals—after school—at bedtime—is when children like it best. With meals it helps digest other foods. After school it nourishes fagged little bodies, yet leaves them eager for supper. At bedtime it gives them the well-fed feeling that always puts children to sleep.

He Surely Is Brave; Think of the Results!!

Los Angeles, Feb. 24—(AP)—Cecil Beaton, London painter, has become known to his friends as the bravest man in Hollywood.

Beaton chose six film girls who, he said, were the most beautiful in motion pictures. He then went into seclusion in his hotel room. Beaton said he selected the girls to feature a book on beauty which he is writing.

His choices? Well, here they are, with his reasons:
Marlene Dietrich: Because Michael Angelo alone could duplicate her.
Norma Shearer: Because she is lovely, simple, country woman whom sophistication has not spoiled.
Greta Garbo: Because she is absolutely mad; and being absolutely mad, is therefore ethereal.

Lilyan Tashman: Because she is a Grecian goddess, deserving full marks for her nose and hips; she has one of the most divine forms in the world.
Marion Davies: Because she is the vitality alive type of young American girl.

Ina Claire: Because she is in reality a Marie Laurencin painting. She is gorgeous almond typifying the name of gaiety, laughter and youth.

Woman Starts "Jobless Apples" Idea In Finland

Washington—(AP)—The "unemployed apple" has made its debut in far away Finland because of a visit to this country of Fru Cecilia Hasselstrom, who says she is the only regularly employed newspaper woman in Helsinki.

Fru Hasselstrom, who came here to attend the conference on the Cause and Cure of War, spied applesellers as soon as she landed in New York. She asked about them. Immediately cabled back to her country, where there also is an unemployment problem.

As a result Finnish farmers began bringing in their apples to sell on street corners.

But Finland, says this enthusiastic, alert newspaper woman, can give the United States a suggestion, too. Well-to-do families there have as guest each night at dinner an unemployed man. Each family takes a different man every day.

In this way the hungry are assured one good meal a day at least and the more prosperous are not unduly taxed.

New Paris Dresses Look Like Coats

Paris—(AP)—Smart Europeans are wearing dresses like coats—a vogue which promises to continue this spring.

The new models cross in front in double-breasted fashion, are fitted at the waist and may be worn with or without a belt.

Dark colors in soft wools or heavy silks are the most popular shades.

They SAY: Trend Is Toward Little Make-up

Philadelphia, Feb. 24—(AP)—Whoever coined the expression, "there's nothing new under the sun," apparently had not heard from Louis Clement, noted Parisian authority on women's styles.

Green face powder is the latest and newest, Clement said in addressing the annual convention of the

Society at Miami Favors the White and Pastel Shades, Now

Miami, Fla.—(UP)—Hialeah Park race meet, one of the early indexes of what the smart set will choose for spring garb, presented this year whites and pastel shades as the predominating note.

It was unseasonably chilly during the opening days, but occasionally the loosened coats afforded avert society writers information.

Princess Alexandria Victoria, feted guest of Mrs. Fred A. Poor, appeared in an ensemble of black tweed, flecked with white. Mrs. Poor wore black in contrast to the whites and pastels of her guests.

The Whitneys were mourning for the late Harry Payne Whitney, famous turfman, some of whose studs came through victorious under the silks of Mrs. John Hay Whitney, and of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.

Mrs. Barclay Warburton chose a red hat, setting off a modestly hued ensemble. Several red berets were seen, and red slippers contrasted with the white worn by others.

Mrs. Cliff Reeder, wife of Miami's mayor, chose a coat of congo pink with a raglan cut and belted. John was host to a party including William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor.

Mrs. Frank J. Bruen, wife of the director-manager, wore an orchid corsage with her black suit and hat.

Mrs. S. P. Robineau, wife of the Florida legislator, wore a sailor hat with a pink coat, belted. Mrs. Joseph H. Hensheimer was tailored in blue tweeds and Mrs. Dodge Sloane in pirate blue with brightly figured scarf.

Mrs. James Walker, wife of New York's mayor, also accentuated her garb with red, a feather of that color in her hat and a scarf making bright play against a cheviot suit.

Brighter colors were predicted as the season advanced and Miami's sun reassured itself.

Philadelphia hairdressers association. Women of ruddy complexion should never use rouge, says M. Clement, hence a pale green powder has been compounded for them.

"And for evening use," he added, "under the shaded lights of the dinner table or ballroom, there is a shade of lavender calculated to improve the most charming woman."

"The style in makeup is changing. It is no longer fashionable to appear either very pale or with extreme vivid smears of rouge and lipstick. The violet nail polish is also disappearing, and some well dressed women prefer no polish at all. Vivid red shades were never popular among women who really set the pace for style, and the entire trend is toward little makeup."

FOND OF THEIR SCHOOL.

It is a little hard to believe that there are any school children, anywhere, who would not rejoice when their schoolhouse burned down. Yet so reputable a magazine as The Nation assures us that this was the case recently when the Hessian Hills School, at Croton-on-Hudson, New York, burned down. If The Nation says so, it must be true. But it is a bit of a shock.

Indeed, these children not only failed to rejoice at the burning of their schoolhouse; they flocked around and offered to help rebuild it. They offered their pennies and nickels to the building fund. Groups of them pledged their allowances. In every way they showed that they actually wanted the school reopened as speedily as possible.

This seems to us to be as good a recommendation as could possibly be obtained for the teachers at this school; and while we know nothing whatever about the place, we would like to hear more. A school that can make children go to their classes with joyous zest would be worth studying.

Yet, when you stop to think about it, the wonder is that all schools are not like that. Surely the school authorities have everything in their favor as far as the raw material is concerned. The youngster who trudges off to school for the first time begins his journey with high hopes. He is eager to go. School is going to be fine stuff. He presents himself, wide-eyed and expectant, ready to drink in the marvels that are to be presented to him. Remember how it was?

On top of that, every child has an overwhelming thirst for information—any and all kinds of it. There are many, many things in this world about which he knows nothing, and most of them are fascinating. It is the job of the school teacher to feed him this information; and, considering the appetite the average youngster takes to school with him, the job ought to be easy.

But somehow it isn't. Somewhere along the line there is a slip-up. The child is not long in discovering that school work is chiefly drudgery. If the school and the child are both normal—representative, that is, of the great average—the child soon entertains a lively hatred for the place, and wants nothing so much as to be everlastingly free from it.

Part of this, probably, is due to the fact that learning anything has its dull moments. To play the violin, for instance, is very gratifying; but before one can produce anything that even approximates pleasing music one must spend long hours at the most uninspiring sort of study and practice. The preliminary steps are bound to be more or less discomfiting.

But is that all of it? Shouldn't it be possible for the school to be fascinating and enjoyable? This little story from the banks of the Hudson makes it seem so, at any rate.

INCURIOUS AND CONTENT.

In a little middle-western town there lives an old man named Benjamin Silvernail, whose claim to fame is surely one of the most unusual in all America.

Benjamin Silvernail is 83. He has spent all of his life in or near this town. Thirty miles away is one of America's greatest cities—a busy place of more than a million inhabitants. But Benjamin Silvernail has never visited it, and he says he never will.

"I never had any business there," he said recently, when someone asked him why, with the city so near, he had never gone there.

This, surely, is as odd a record as any American can claim. Nowhere has the city been such a magnet as in this country. It has pulled men from farm and village by the million. It has overtaken, and all but wrecked, the rural society on which the nation was founded. It has become America's supreme achievement, in some ways, and it has bred a race of restless, eternally-curious folk who are always moving, always ready to be uprooted.

But here, 30 miles away from one of the greatest of these cities, is an old chap who simply hasn't bothered to go and see what the city is like. The idea just don't appeal to him. He will take all of the city's marvels on somebody else's evidence. Progress and change don't interest him.

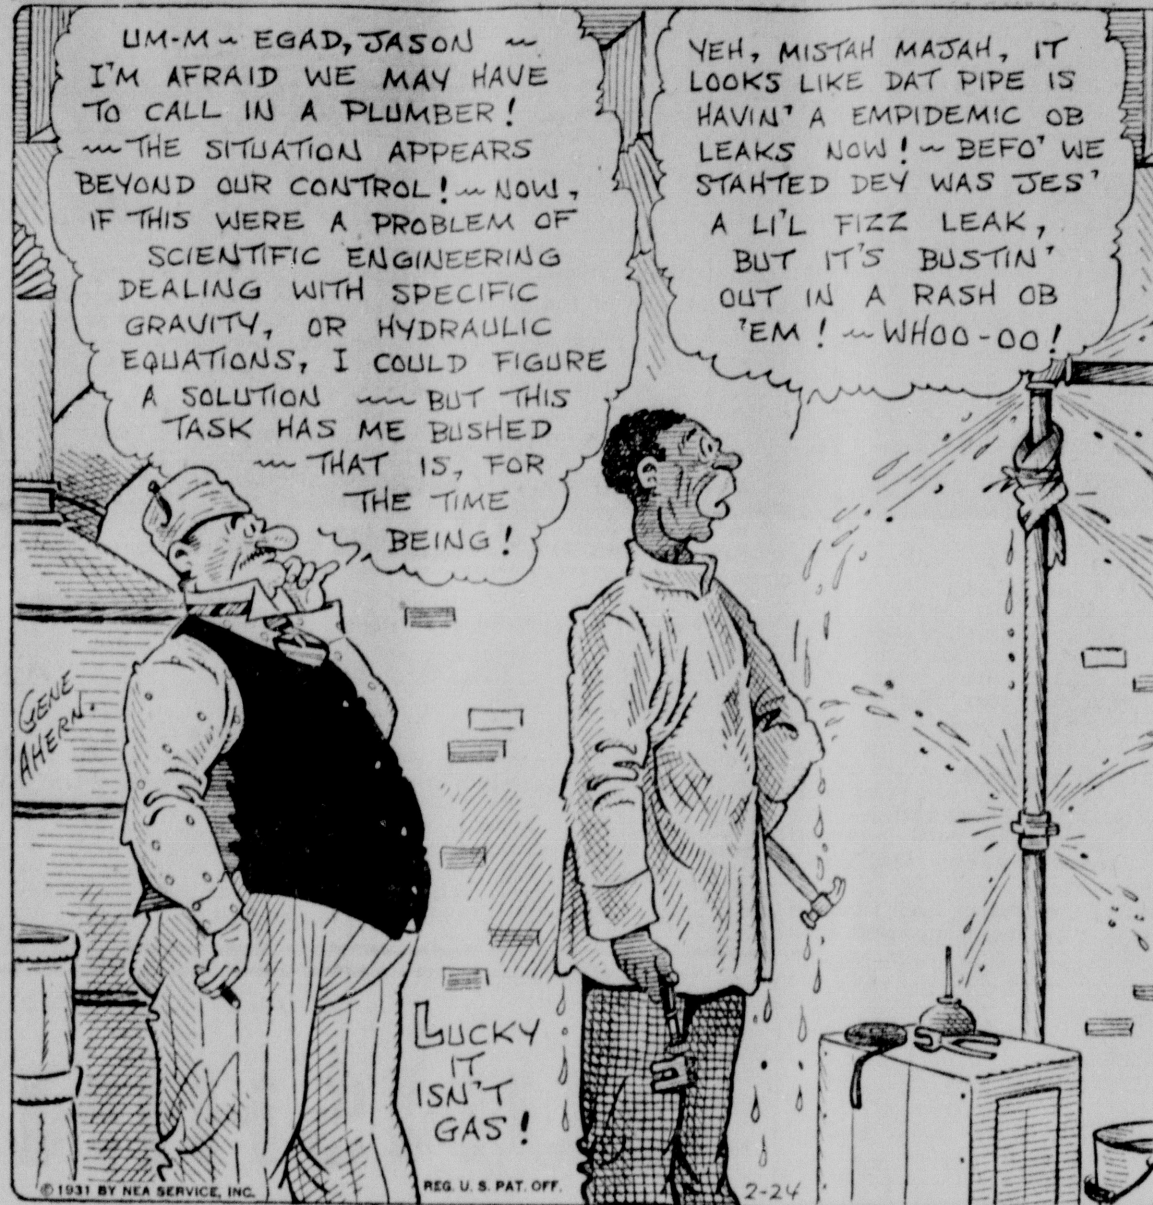

There is a kind of existence, close to the soil, that has no eyes for anything else; a vegetative, placid, incurious sort of life that is content to let its horizon be limited by the nearest range of hills. But while we who are used to cities tend to look down on that kind of life as if it were somehow bovine and stupid, it may be that our lofty condescension is a bit misplaced.

After all, the modern city, even in America, is not quite a heaven-on-earth. There are times when even the most enthusiastic city dweller has to admit that the city is a poor sort of place to live. The open country can be dull and monotonous, but at least it does not rush a man into old age before he quite realizes that his youth has passed. It permits a man to realize his kinship with the living earth. It lets him partake of the ever-recurring miracles of opening bud and unfolding leaf.

It is quite possible that this Benjamin Silvernail is not nearly as eccentric as we might suppose.

LOS ANGELES RETURNS

Washington, Feb. 23.—(UP)—The dirigible Los Angeles, enroute from Panama to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, passed Point Morait, Jamaica, at 7:45 A. M., the Navy department was advised today. The Los Angeles left Panama Sunday morning after engaging in the annual Navy maneuvers there.

W. P. Williams, publisher of the

says:

"Newspaper advertising has undergone an 'acid test' during the past sixteen months of depression. It has proven its economic value as never before.

"When merchants were faced with the necessity of keeping up volume, reducing expenses or going out of business early in 1930, newspaper advertising offered them practically their only hope.

"Certain items of expense classified as 'overhead' could not be reduced and they found it imperative to keep up volume. This was difficult in the face of unemployment, slackened demand and less money in circulation.

"Comparatively few had courage to increase advertising appropriations, but those who did have weathered the storm and are 'sitting pretty' as 1931 begins with its promise of returning prosperity. Naturally business has been scarce, but a satisfactory volume has been kept up by coaxing business away from non-advertisers.

"If there was ever a time for large concerns, Chambers of Commerce, civic clubs and similar organizations to go strong on so-called institutional or booster advertising, that time is now.

"Will Rogers has demonstrated by his tour through the drought stricken sections of Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas what can be accomplished by spreading cheer. Business needs cheerful advertising and it will produce wonderful results for those who employ it.

"This is a time that demands the very best thought and effort in advertising and the newspapers are capable of delivering the message where it is needed—in the homes of people with the greatest buying power on earth.

Varying Rainfalls In Central Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 23.—(UP)—Varying quantities of rainfall which fell in many central Illinois districts yesterday and today was believed to have been sufficient to break the drought which has prevailed over this section for several months.

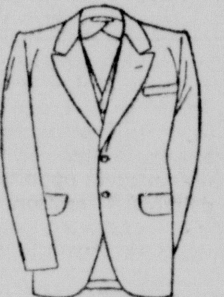

In some sections the precipitation was little more than a steady drizzle, but in others sufficient water fell to fill wells and creeks and thus end the necessity of hauling water to livestock.

Crops in many sections were reported to be greatly aided by the rainfall, which also was considered helpful to farmers in preparing the ground for spring work. Much additional rain, however, is still said to be needed to put the ground in condition for spring planting.

ANOTHER GREAT VACATION TOUR MADE POSSIBLE

The Telegraph Announces Trip To Southern Battlefields

In addition to the Easter week community tour to Annapolis and Washington, March 29-April 2, details of which have been published in this paper, The Telegraph is today able to offer a second spring vacation community tour of great attractiveness for the same amazingly low cost as the eastern trip—$40 for the round trip and all expenses.

The second tour, made possible through the cooperation of the Pickwick Greyhound Lines, the Big Four Route and the Southern Railway System is from Dixon to Knoxville, Smoky Mountain National Park and Chattanooga, Tenn., and return March 28-April 1, for which reservations should be made at The Telegraph office no or before March 18.

An Ideal Tour
This is an ideal tour for the entire family. Travel with your friends on this scenic and educational tour to Knoxville, visiting the beautiful Smoky National Park and Chattanooga with its many historical battlefields, also visiting the enchanting caverns situated on Lookout Mountain.

Midway between the Atlantic and the Mississippi, midway between the Great Lakes and the Gulf, and nearer the center of population of the United States than any other mountains that have extended scenic attractions are the Great Smoky Mountains, one of the chief attractions of which is the great variety of scenery. From the valleys, where one "looks up" from the hills and ridges, where one can "see around" from the peaks and crests, where one seems to be "on top of the world" from wherever the view, it is ever different.

Very few have traversed the crest of the Great Smokies from end to end, but those who have, and those who have been so fortunate as to view the various ranges from the numerous peaks and other points of vantage have all been impressed with the multiplicity of outline, the blending of color, and the great variety of scenery. The highest peak is Mt. Le Conte, towering more than 6700 feet above sea level.

Then—situated in a fertile valley, through which the mighty Tennessee River winds its way, and bounded by famous Lookout Mountain, Signal Mountain, Raccoon Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Walden's Ridge, and other rises of the Cumberland, Chattanooga is endowed with mountain and valley scenery of unequalled magnificence. There is no place that offers more to the visitor than this hospitable, interesting city with its historic environment.

This is an ideal opportunity to visit this delightful section, enjoying a personally conducted tour at a very low cost. Our trip will be made over the Big Four Route from Chicago to Cincinnati, thence via the Southern Railway System on schedule as outlined below.

NOTED EDUCATOR DEAD
Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 23—(UP)—Dr. John A. H. Keith, State Superintendent of Pennsylvania schools from 1927 to 1931, died here yesterday at the age of 61. Farmers Test Soil To Save Thousands Urbana, Ill., Feb. 24—Taking stock of their soils as never before, 6,000 Illinois farmers tested and mapped 160,000 acres of their farm land for acidity during the past year and thereby saved themselves thousands of dollars worth of limestone and clover seed, according to a report by C. M. Linsley, soils extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. More than 80,000 acres of the land also were tested and mapped for available phosphorus. The work was done under the college's soils extension project which was carried out in cooperation with farm advisers of 50 different counties.

One of the most common misunderstandings among farmers is being corrected as a result of the project, according to Linsley. This is that soils are more or less alike and that a blanket recommendation for treatment can be made by the college or the county farm adviser. Tests which the farmers themselves have made for acidity and available phosphorus, have pointed out emphatically to them that the soil within a single field may vary widely in its need for treatment. Many other farmers who have known in a vague sort of way that their land needs treatment are at a loss as to what to do about it until they have carried out the testing and mapping project.

"During the present hard times on the farm, it is more important than ever that the farmer have an accurate invoice of his soil. Few are in a position to throw away clover seed on land that is too acid to grow clover nor can they afford to apply limestone or phosphate blindly."

"The 6,000 farmers were given direction sheets showing them where samples of soil were to be collected from a 40 acre field. These samples were then brought to local testing meetings where they were tested under the supervision of the farm adviser and the local soil project leader. Maps were made showing the result of the tests. The finished maps showed where limestone or phosphate was needed and how much should be applied to the acre. The maps are a product of the farmer's own hand and give him something definite to work on. They are the first step in the improvement of any soil."

Green Feed, Fiber In Poultry Feeding

BY PROF. H. D. MUNROE

Throughout the east there is a growing demand for roughage in the mash feeds for poultry. Several years ago poultry mashers were higher in fiber content. State laws, experiment station recommendations and competition have caused a great reduction in the amount of fiber found in commercial mashes. At the same time, poultry feeders have been neglecting the succulent green feeds. There is no doubt but that the combined conditions are responsible for some of our poultry troubles.

As is usual with a new thought in poultry management, this fiber question will be overcome. We will then have troubles resulting from too much fiber and finally strike an average amount that will give satisfactory results.

At the present time many poultrymen are demanding a coarser mash. Corn, bran, or oats will have the same amount of fiber whether ground coarse or fine. Many feeders do not realize the difference between the coarse ground feeds and feeds that contain a high amount of fiber.

Succulent green feeds are a very important part of the poultry ration. These feeds have three important values. The succulent value is the extra water that the birds consume when they eat this type of feed. It has a tendency to prevent constipation. The green value is vitamin A and some vitamin D. The roughage value comes from the fiber content of these feeds. Young, tender grass, clover or alfalfa are ideal green feeds that answer all three requirements. For growing stock, or laying hens, this type of feed is very important. For birds that are on bare yards or confined to the houses we must find substitutes for these feeds.

Roughage in the poultry ration will answer only one of these three important requirements. Alfalfa leaf meal in the mash does not fully answer the problem. Sprouted oats or cabbage do not answer the problem in full.

The wise poultry feeder is not going to buy roughage in the mash feeds but is going to supply roughage as such.

President Attends Washington's Church

Washington, Feb. 23—(UP)—President Hoover led the nation in paying homage to George Washington yesterday, journeying to nearby Alexandria, Va., on the 199th anniversary of the birth of the first President to attend services at the church where Washington worshipped.

Occupying the same pew formerly used by Washington at the historic Christ Church, Mr. Hoover heard a sermon on "The Religious Life of Washington" and then sent his military aide to place a wreath upon Washington's tomb at Mt. Vernon. The text of the sermon was read by Rev. William Jackson Morton from the old Washington family Bible, presented to the church in 1804 by George Washington Parke Curtis, the first President's adopted son.

The President was accompanied at the Alexandria services by Mrs. Hoover and their five-year-old granddaughter, Peggy Ann.

Memorial services also were held yesterday at the Pohick church in Fairfax county Va. Washington assisted in plans for this structure while serving as vestryman of the original Pohick church.

HOOVER BUILDS UP VETO RECORD LIKE CLEVELAND

Three Bills Are Disapproved By Executive In Less Than A Week

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Feb. 24—(UP)—Three vetoes have come from the White House in less than a week, with at least two more important ones yet to be issued.

Thus President Hoover is building up a veto record which has not been approximated since the Cleveland administration.

The two yet to come are the Veterans loan bill and the Muscle Shoals compromise measure, according to undisputed information from those close to the Executive. A message rejecting the loan bill will be sent to Congress probably Wednesday.

Executive action on the Muscle Shoals bill may wait for several days. The measure is due to reach the White House before night, having been adopted by the Senate yesterday, 55 to 28. It will be referred to the War Department for recommendations before any action is taken.

Faces "Pocket Veto"
Several days may be required for investigation. It is generally expected that Mr. Hoover will nullify it by a "pocket veto," as less than 10 days remain of the session of Congress. The President has a precedent for such action, President Coolidge having vetoed a similar bill in this manner several years ago.

A delegation of Senators and Representatives will call at the White House Thursday to urge presidential signature of the Muscle Shoals bill.

Meantime, the President is collecting data to bolster his veto of the Veterans loan bill. The Veterans Bureau is working in cooperation with welfare agencies gathering statistics at Mr. Hoover's request to indicate what the need is among ex-servicemen for additional aid from the government.

These reports may not be ready in time for the President to act tomorrow, but it is said at the White House the veto message will not be delayed beyond Thursday.

Polls and votes taken in both the Senate and the House indicate the Veterans bill will pass over the veto.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

Father and Sons Christian Church Enjoyed Banquet
Christian church men and boys enjoyed their "best yet" Fathers' and Sons' banquet last evening in the judgment of the leaders of the Loyal Men's Bible Class, which has sponsored the event for the seven years they have been held. One hundred thirty-six plates were occupied in the church dining room, and the menu served by the Upstreamers' class provoked only highest satisfaction and praise.

An eight-piece orchestra rendered a half-hour concert in the church auditorium while the banqueters assembled and visited. At 7:00 o'clock—late enough for the boys' appetites to reach that exciting stage—the descent on the feast was made. Grace was spoken by J. F. Cox, former teacher of the class. Elmer E. Rice led in a spirited chorusing. A quartette composed of Mrs. C. C. Emmert, Miss Ora Foto, Clinton Fahmy and Elmer E. Rice sang two beautiful numbers. C. B. Rhodes welcomed the boys and congratulated them on their wonderful opportunities today for good times and rich boyhood experiences. He pulled off a fresh mail-order-house joke, to the special delight of some of his hearers.

Ralph Cox responded for the boys and thanked the "Dads" for not only the good eats, but praised the Loyal Men's Class for their support of all young people's work in the church, especially that of the Boy Scouts, and closed with a good one on Scoutmaster L. W. Emmert. Elmer Rice followed with "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and an encore led by crowd in "Springtime in the Rockies."

The address of the occasion was by Pastor Chas. W. Marlow of Polo, subject "The Fine Art of Living Together." Enlivened by fitting allusions of a personal nature, jokes and anecdotes, and exhibiting throughout a delightful spirit of cheer and animation, the address struck center and held attention continuously. Mr. Marlow suggested three necessary things, out of the many he said could be chosen, that help folks, young and old, to "get along together": friendliness, a sense of humor and love. He warned against selfishness and egotism, and urged all to look for good qualities in others, even if it required a diligent search. A sunshiny disposition, he showed, is of immense value and pointed out the pity that many seem to think that unless this is natural, it can never belong to a person; on the contrary, it can be cultivated, and should be, as all other things of lasting value or real development.

Jas. F. Kindig, president of the sponsoring class, acted as chairman. The other officers of the class are: C. S. Parks, vice-president; Maurice Origien, secretary-treasurer; and Jas. G. Leach, teacher. Mr. Leach closed the program by an invitation to all men and boys present, not now enrolled in church or Bible school memberships to become so.

Mrs. Yvonne Marco Willing To Talk But Not In Metropolis

Cleveland, Feb. 24—(AP)—Mrs. Yvonne Richman Marco, who fled when her husband met death at the hands of New York gangsters, is willing to talk about it here but not in New York.

The 29-year-old blond widow of Frank Marco would not say whether she feared a like fate from the underworld if she goes back to New York, but prepared to fight extradition.

"I don't know why they want me," she answered all their questions here but I will not return to New York," she said after she was taken into custody at the home of J. M. Marco, her father-in-law, here. She had come here for the funeral of Frank, who police said had prospered as a New York and Chicago racketeer while his parents thought he was a successful salesman.

New York police want to question her regarding her husband's associates in the belief they may learn why he was shot and stabbed and his body left lying on the waterfront. She faces a $300 grand larceny charge in New York.

Mrs. Marco, the former wife of Harry Richman, stage and screen actor, declared she last saw Marco in the Victoria hotel, New York, at midnight last Tuesday, when he went out to buy a newspaper. Later he telephoned he would be gone for a couple of hours. Then there was

Lima, Peru, Feb. 24—(UP)—A government delegation will go to Arequipa by airplane in an effort to persuade southern Peru military leaders to end their revolt against the ruling military committee headed by Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro.

The army chiefs at Lima, with approval of Sanchez Cerro, voted today to send the delegation, carrying a proposal for an accord between the insurgents and the Lima government.

The airplane delegation will argue with the insurgents that Sanchez Cerro has met their demands by withdrawing as a candidate for the post of constitutional president and by providing for a provisional government to replace the military committee, which has ruled since the August revolution overthrew the regime of Augusto B. Leguia.

Embezzlement Of Funds Of Government Is Alleged By State

Chicago, Feb. 24—(UP)—More witnesses were called by the Federal government today in support of the contention that Col. Charles J. Kraft, former Commander of the 202nd Coast Artillery, Illinois National Guard, had embezzled more than $100,000 in Federal funds during the time he was in command.

A half dozen witnesses testified at the opening of the trial, most of them admitting that they had signed salary receipts for higher amounts than had been given them by Kraft. "The defendant put through vouchers totalling $140,000 for battery mechanics pay during a six-year period, and of this amount, the government will show that more than one-half was paid," Prosecutor James C. Leaton told the jury.

Three enlisted men, D. P. Jones, Jack Kastrow and Wesley Newburg, testified that they did no work, and received no pay, although names were on the pay roll as receiving $130 a month.

James Gauthier told the jury that he received $125 a month as a battery mechanic, but that his work for Kraft was of a personal nature. Another witness, Henry Wood, mechanic, reported that Kraft asked him to tell an Army Inspector that he received $150 a month, instead of $125.

Philip A. Gibbons, of the defense counsel, charged that the prosecution of the former Commander had a "personal" angle, and said he would prove that Kraft had never "misappropriated a dime."

A board of inquiry appointed to investigate the "moral fitness" of Kraft last year, when intimations of the alleged irregularities in the funds of the 202nd Artillery first were heard, later allowed him to resign with full rank after Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keen, militia commander, had decided against a court-martial.

The question of the funds received from rental of the armory during Kraft's command was not brought up by the prosecution, which said that that was entirely a state matter. The state has taken no action against Kraft.

Race Horses Lead To Banker's Arrest

Chicago, Feb. 24—(UP)—The unwillingness of Frank Flowers, fugitive vice-president of the defunct Roosevelt State Bank of Chicago, to part with his race horses, caused his arrest at San Diego, Cal., detectives said today.

Attaches of the State's Attorney's office, armed with extradition papers, left for San Diego to return Flowers after receiving word of his capture.

Flowers and two brothers, Samuel and Alexander, President and Chairman of the bank respectively, were named last fall under an indictment charging embezzlement of $300,000.

In attempting to trace Flowers, detectives hazarded that he would not be far away from his three race horses, which are quartered at Agua Caliente, Mexico and caused a search for the banker in nearby cities, including San Diego, where he was found yesterday.

Lima, Peru, Feb. 24—(UP)—A government delegation will go to Arequipa by airplane in an effort to persuade southern Peru military leaders to end their revolt against the ruling military committee headed by Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro.

The army chiefs at Lima, with approval of Sanchez Cerro, voted today to send the delegation, carrying a proposal for an accord between the insurgents and the Lima government.

The airplane delegation will argue with the insurgents that Sanchez Cerro has met their demands by withdrawing as a candidate for the post of constitutional president and by providing for a provisional government to replace the military committee, which has ruled since the August revolution overthrew the regime of Augusto B. Leguia.

WIDOW OF SLAIN GANGSTER FEARS NEW YORK VISIT

Mrs. Yvonne Marco Willing To Talk But Not In Metropolis

Cleveland, Feb. 24—(AP)—Mrs. Yvonne Richman Marco, who fled when her husband met death at the hands of New York gangsters, is willing to talk about it here but not in New York.

The 29-year-old blond widow of Frank Marco would not say whether she feared a like fate from the underworld if she goes back to New York, but prepared to fight extradition.

"I don't know why they want me," she answered all their questions here but I will not return to New York," she said after she was taken into custody at the home of J. M. Marco, her father-in-law, here. She had come here for the funeral of Frank, who police said had prospered as a New York and Chicago racketeer while his parents thought he was a successful salesman.

New York police want to question her regarding her husband's associates in the belief they may learn why he was shot and stabbed and his body left lying on the waterfront. She faces a $300 grand larceny charge in New York.

Mrs. Marco, the former wife of Harry Richman, stage and screen actor, declared she last saw Marco in the Victoria hotel, New York, at midnight last Tuesday, when he went out to buy a newspaper. Later he telephoned he would be gone for a couple of hours. Then there was another telephone call from a man who said he was a policeman and asked if she could identify a slain man as her husband.

She hung up the receiver and fled to the home of a friend, she said, and learned of the killing from the newspapers the next morning. The same day friends put her on a train for Cleveland. "That's all I know about it," she asserted.

She asked that she be allowed to go back to her mother-in-law's home.

NUMBER OF MILK COWS IN STATE SHOWS INCREASE

Practically the Same Number Of Hogs On Illinois Farms

Springfield, Ill. (UP)—An increase of approximately two per cent in the number of milk cows on farms in Illinois was reported by the state and Federal Departments of Agriculture as a result of a joint survey conducted by them.

State milk cow numbers were estimated at 1,007,000 head on January first, as compared with 987,000 head a year ago, and 958,000 head in 1929. The average value per head is $64.00 as compared with $59.00 a year ago.

Milk production per cow during 1930 averaged about two per cent low than in 1929 due chiefly to the drought and poor pastures, but production per cow on January 1, 1931 was nearly two per cent heavier than a year ago.

With more cows on farms and the number still increasing and with milk per cow running above last year, an increased production of dairy products during 1931 must be expected, the report stated.

Hogs About Same
The annual livestock report issued jointly by the state and Federal Departments of Agriculture revealed that there was practically the same number of hogs on Illinois farms at this time as there was last year.

The report estimated that on January 1 there were 4,204,000 heads of hogs or the same number on farms a year ago. The average value per head was reported at $12.30 against $14.40 a year ago.

The hog industry during the marketing year which begins October 1, 1931 is expected to be in a more favorable position than in the current year the report said, since indications point to slightly smaller supplies, lower feed costs and some improvement in both foreign and domestic demand during that period.

KILL EMBARGO BILLS.

Washington, Feb. 23 (UP)—All embargo bills before the House Ways and Means committee were voted down for this session by the committee today. They included the compromise Capper-Garber oil restriction bill, the Buttrick bill for a one-year embargo on wheat and other agricultural products and the Williamson bill for an embargo on all Russian imports.

Farm Prospects Bright With Hogs Holding the Key

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 24—Hogs hold one of the few bright spots in the 1931 agricultural outlook and whether or not farmers cash in on this advantage depends a whole lot upon how their brood sows are fed during the last six weeks before farrowing, it is pointed out by W. E. Carroll, chief in swine husbandry at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. The bulk of the farrowing in Illinois comes in April, that there is still time to correct faulty feeding, he added.

"The two most common defects in the winter ration of pregnant sows is a lack of protein and of some carrier of vitamin D. By farrowing time, a sow's appetite for protein should be thoroughly satisfied. Although tests have shown that soybeans may be used with success for this purpose, it may be a safeguard to supply some tankage or skim milk, as these are known to be excellent."

"No matter what protein supplement is fed, a brood sow should get all the legume hay of good quality that will consume whenever pasture is not available. During lactation the sow should consume one-half pound or more of such hay daily. To make her do this, it may be necessary to grade the hay and mix it with other feeds. Coarse or discolored hay should not be used."

"Whether or not brood sows should be fed mineral supplements other than salt will depend upon the ration they are getting. Pregnant sows getting a gallon of skim milk or buttermilk or one-fourth to one-half pound of tankage a head daily will need no additional mineral matter. Especially is this true if they are on pasture or are getting alfalfa hay. Rations composed entirely of seeds and grains, such as corn, oats and soybeans, should, however, be supplemented with a mineral mixture."

"For this purpose a simple mineral mixture which will meet the demands of the pregnant sow in almost all cases can be made from 2 parts ground limestone, 2 parts steamed bone meal or spent bone black and 1 part common salt."

Facts For Farmer

Lake Andes, S. D.—(UP)—Claim to a new South Dakota record for early seedling made by H. C. Miller near Lake Andes.

Miller said he had sowed 360 acres of wheat in January, due to the mild weather. Miller prides himself on always being first in field for sowing wheat. He operates a 1,000 acre farm. The wheat seedling this year was accomplished between January 19 and 26.

East Lansing, Mich.—(UP)—An organization to be known as the Michigan Turkey Growers' association was formed during Farmers' Week at Michigan State College. Officers are Mrs. Nora Busson, Edinburg, president; Mrs. Edgar Case, Benonia, vice-president; and J. A. Hannah, poultry extension specialist at the college, secretary-treasurer.

Jonesville, Mich.—(UP)—Discovery of grasshoppers this month in her alfalfa has led Mrs. E. F. Fogel to believe that spring is here and that summer is not far off.

Weekly Review of Agriculture by Farmers Paper

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Signs of improvement in the business situation needed to strengthen demand for farm products are apparent in some directions, but downward tendencies still prevail in others, the Prairie Farmer's week market review said.

"Cattle prices have declined sharply in the last five or six weeks," the review said. "Receipts have been below normal for this time of year, so that part of the extreme weakness can be attributed to price deflation which has gradually affected one commodity after another. Prices for different classes are back to levels prevailing five to eight years ago when they approximated the pre-war basis. Bulk of the steers are selling at $7.50 to $9.50 at Chicago with the top around $11.25. After such a sharp decline as has occurred in the last seven weeks, the tendency in former year has been for the market either to stabilize or to rally sharply."

"Hog receipts are showing seasonal shrinkage, though the decrease has not served to advance prices. Arrivals at 11 principal markets declined from 783,000 in the week ending January 17, the peak of the season, to 685,000 in the week of February 7. Further contraction of 15 to

Modest Bossy Dons Bloomers

In order to catch a number of brown dog ticks and study them, U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists at the Jeanerette, La., experimental farm are dressing cows in bloomers. The ticks attach themselves to the cows for three to five days and drop off. The bloomers collect the falling ticks so the scientists can study them. Dr. Charles W. Rees is shown fitting bloomers to a cow.

HENS LAY 'OLD' EGGS WHEN IMPROPERLY FED

Ames, Iowa.—(AP)—Not more than 70 per cent of the two billion eggs laid in Iowa last year could qualify as "fresh" on the day of production.

Those which failed, says R. G. Clark, state dairy and food commissioner, didn't measure up to the Iowa standard in weight, cleanliness or in condition of the yolk because of incorrect feeding and careless handling of the eggs.

20 per cent is probable in the next two months.

Demand for hog products has been weak, although declining receipts of hogs and colder weather have stiffened fresh pork prices recently.

"After undergoing a break of 75 cents to $1 early in February, lamb prices rallied to the previous peak of $9.60 at Chicago, then weakened once more. Apparently, the market is about as high as it can get unless a sustained further drop in receipts occurs."

"Milk's have bought a substantial volume of wool recently and prices are a trifle higher in the Boston market."

"The recent advance in foreign markets carried prices of wheat five to fifteen cents over the extreme low points reached several weeks ago. Winnipeg showed the largest upward which is not being fully maintained. Domestic cash prices were not affected materially as they are being held above the world level by the Stabilization Corporation, but the new crop future deliveries advanced about 10 cents over their lows at the end of December."

"Light receipts of corn have offset the small demand and gradually stiffened prices. Since the first of the year, the visible supply has increased but little. Corn prices seem unlikely to go much higher in the next month or two unless wheat takes the lead, or a marked upturn in the general commodity price level occurs, or late winter and early spring receipts of hogs prove to be much heavier than last year."

"Fresh egg prices continue to slip lower as the period of flush production approaches. Prices for fowls have declined at most markets as a result of the heavier offerings."

PREGNANT SOWS NEED EXERCISE, PROTEIN FEEDS

Minerals Also Important In Raising Of Thrifty Pigs

Large broods of healthy pigs, the boon of every hog raiser, can be assured in no more certain way than by the proper conditioning of the sow during pregnancy and especially just before farrowing time. Special attention should be paid to the feed, making sure that the sow receives a well balanced ration containing plenty of mineral matter and protein.

An ideal ration for sows prior to farrowing is made up of 60 pounds corn, or corn meal, preferably yellow; 30 pounds short, 5 pounds linseed meal, and 5 pounds tankage. This ration may be fed either as a slop or in dry form. Old sows should receive one and one-half pounds per hundred pounds live weight, while young sows need one and three-fourths pounds per 100 pounds live weight. Good green alfalfa or clover hay in a rack will supply much needed vitamins which often are lacking in the sow's ration.

Minerals which are so necessary in building bones for the pigs may be made up of a mixture of 20

50th WEDDING OF PRIEBES HONORED BY HIS EMPLOYEES

Happy Affair Is Sponsored At Their Home In Oak Park

"The Chanticleer," published by the Priebes Organization, had the following concerning the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Priebes:

Fifty years ago on February 11, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Priebes were married in Minnoka, Ill.

A week ago last Wednesday they were receiving the congratulations of their friends and neighbors at their home in Oak Park when E. B. Heaton and Paul Mandeville of the United States Egg Society and C. B. Ford appeared.

Besides his personal congratulations Mr. Ford bore the greetings of sixty-six of Mr. Priebes' old time friends in the industry. On their behalf he presented Mr. and Mrs. Priebes with a gold plate.

It seems that W. T. S. White had learned that Mr. and Mrs. Priebes were to observe their golden wedding anniversary and had, without the knowledge of any members of the family, spread the news among the dealers.

As a tribute to a man who has devoted much of his time and energy to the development of the industry and whose opinions they have sometimes challenged but always respected, the gold plate was given to Mr. and Mrs. Priebes by the members of the trade.

Mr. Heaton and Mr. Mandeville presented the bride and groom with a leather covered copy of the tribute to Mr. Priebes which appeared in the February issue of the United States Egg & Poultry Magazine, introducing him as President Emeritus of the organization.

Before the reception Mr. and Mrs. Priebes had been joined at dinner by all their children and grandchildren who live near the city and by Mrs. Priebes' brother, F. J. Sigmater of Minnoka, Ill., and her sister and aunt. It is a matter of interest that in this year their oldest son, E. W. Priebes, and his wife will observe their silver wedding anniversary and their oldest grandson, E. W. Priebes, Jr., and his wife will observe their first anniversary.

4-H Club Work Is Given Recognition

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Official recognition of the Four-H club movement's advancement was made today by Governor Louis L. Emmerson who wrote an introduction to a report marking the second milestone on the administration of state aid to Four-H club exhibitions.

The report, issued by the Department of Agriculture, recapitulates reports of the 1930 shows conducted in 95 Illinois counties.

Governor Emmerson's introduction was as follows:

"When the Fifty-sixth General Assembly of the Illinois State Legislature, in 1929, created a fund for partial reimbursement of the premiums paid at Four-H Club Exhibitions, that measure received my approval because it paved the way for greater progress in the improvement of conditions on the farms and in the homes of Illinois.

"A comparison of the exhibitions held in 1930 with those of 1929 reveals that this plan for the promotion of Agriculture and home economics is decidedly successful. Due to this substantial encouragement, exhibitions have been held in counties that were formerly without this means of stimulating the efforts of the young men and young women of the farms."

"In each classification of the exhibitions, there is an increase in the amount of premiums offered. Consequently, the demands for State Aid in 1930 were greater than in 1929."

"Thus, this great state-wide organization, in passing the second milestone in its progress toward perfection, along the route provided for its encouragement by this State Aid Premium Fund, is demonstrating its achievement. Its advancement during the past two years indicates that its progress will continue, in keeping with the opportunities available."

"In view of this, a continuation of this form of support and encouragement appears commendable."

The booklet gives details of each exhibit that participated in the distribution of $31,141.92 of the funds collected from the licensed racetracks of the state in order that all club leaders may compare experiences.

The Price of Eggs Has Gone Up . . .

It happened last Friday! All of our customers are feeling good about it—and we're just as happy as they are!

It's unusual, of course, for eggs to go up in February, but you remember we told you that this year we expected to see eggs higher in April than they were in January. It looks as if they will be.

When the price dropped so low people in the cities began eating more eggs and this increased demand is helping to bring the price up now.

We can't promise you that it won't go down again, of course. But we do think that any drop now will be only a temporary one, because we believe that we have seen the low point in egg prices.

With this good news, you're going to feel more enthusiastic about starting your chicks. Our advice is always the same: Raise a heavy breed, raise as many as you have room for—but no more, and hatch them early!

DRUDGERY WILL BE ELIMINATED FOR FARM WIVES

Dreams Of Farm Bureau Women Outlined By Federation

Decatur, Ill.—(AP)—The farm woman of the future will live in a world from which drudgery has been banished, if dreams which Farm Bureau women now entertain come true. Mrs. Charles W. Sewell, director of home and community service of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said in an address at the Illinois Farmers' Institute.

Mrs. Sewell placed her faith in rural electrification to work a transformation in the farm housewife's routine. "The low value set upon woman power in the rural districts has always irked me," Mrs. Sewell said. "The estimated wage of the average American housewife should be $3,000 annually, or $250 a month. As a matter of fact, many farm wives would be tickled pink with $250 a year all her very own."

"The world has gone out among farm women that it only costs a nickel now for enough electric current to milk ten cows, or separate fourteen hundred pounds of milk, or churn twenty pounds of butter or sharpen an ax on the grindstone six times."

In my dreams I see local Farm Bureaus making for a major project rural electrification, while county and state Farm Bureau groups combine to secure more favorable construction costs and rate charges. Then the want of the Fairy Godmother, Electricity, will work the wonder that liberates farm families from much of the drudgery and toil now generally accepted as belonging to a farm.

"But if the farm home as the nation knows it and reverts it today is to continue, other ways must be found to lighten the labor of the housewife, who is at the same time cook, chambermaid, seamstress, poultry and dairy maid, garden girl, official canner, jam, jelly, preserve and pickle maker, while incidentally she crowds into her day, child care and husband training, to say nothing of being the school district's co-operator in Farm Bureau programs."

Standing at the "Wishing Well" in Biloxi, Mississippi, one day Mrs. Sewell said she had let herself indulge in many wishes for agriculture.

"My first wish," she continued, "was for a beautiful rural America, 'was for comfortable farm homes, equipped with such things as the city dweller ordinarily enjoys. I wished for a home and community service which might make possible the financing of farm home construction by building and loan systems that would permit the farmer to live while paying for his new nest."

"My vision led me to immense department stores owned, controlled and operated by Farm Bureau people, where every essential to the business of farming and home making might be purchased at much more equitable figures than the average low prevailing."

"I saw farmers freely using many barrels of white lead and oil upon their homes, so that the hideous unpainted farm buildings found in so many sections became things of beauty. I saw Farm Bureaus buying paint spray machines, so that all members might save the surface and improve appearances 100 per cent."

"Ten years ago if I had attempted prophecy, I would have been laughed at. In those ten years, however, a mighty agency has been born in rural America and has developed into a power with a reputation for getting things done. In the Farm Bureau now there are more than a million and a quarter farm families. You'll find the Farm Bureau in forty-three states, in 1,137 counties and in 18,900 rural communities. It's an army of no mean proportion and the fact that it is growing larger every day is conclusive proof of the abiding faith that farmers have in the Farm Bureau. It looks as if folks feel that the farm bureau can bring about the day when all these dreams will come true."

SUPT. OF ROCK RIVER FARMS IS SPEAKER MON.

Farmers Of Community Getting Much Good From Meetings

The Monday evening meeting of the farmers of this vicinity who are enjoying the series of sessions planned by Prof. John Weis of the agricultural department of the local high school, proved to be intensely interesting, practical and profitable. H. W. Allyn, superintendent of the famous Rock River farms near Byron discussed his subject, "Breeding for Profitable Milk Production," in a very capable manner by using graphic illustrations. In brief he said:

"First know the production of each individual cow in the herd by being a member of a cow testing association and cull out the low producers. Second, keep only healthy individuals, free from tuberculosis and Bang's disease. Third, know how to read and interpret the pedigree of the sire that is placed at the head of the herd. Profitable milk production must come from the intelligent use of good sires because that ability is an inherited characteristic."

He cited as an illustration where the effect of one sire used with 12 cows, increased the net income for milk $1,500, when the minimum conditions were used.

At the close of the address the meeting was thrown open for general discussion in which many of the men took an active part. The growing enthusiasm and interest in this part of each meeting is evidence that it is proving practical and beneficial to the individual problems of the farmers.

The audience was favored with two selections on the harmonica and Hawaiian guitar by Harold Higby, a member of the local Future Farmer club. Next Monday evening is to be ladies night at which time the men are urged to bring their wives. The topic to be discussed will be, "Care and Management of Baby Chicks."

Calling Out Of Poor Cows Urged

Urbana, Ill.—(AP)—Culling out the poor producing cows, many of which are not even paying for their "board and keep" under present prices, would speed up recovery of the dairy industry, C. S. Rhode, dairy extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, said today.

While decreased demand, rather than an abnormally large supply, has accounted for a large part of the drop in prices of dairy products, there are more than enough dairy cattle now to supply even normal demands, he pointed out.

"During the time of higher prices for dairy products, many of the poorer cows made some money for their owners, but today they are falling to return even enough to meet

FEEDING OF LIVESTOCK

The careful feeder watches each animal and feeds according to the animal's needs. The safest way to do this properly is to have some way of measuring the feed. If the feeder is using baled hay or feed which has been weighed into sacks, it is easy to approximate the amount that is being given at each feeding. If using loose hay, the weight of an average fork should be determined. If feeding concentrates, the feeder can readily determine the weight of the contents of a measure. Following is a list of feeds partly analyzed:

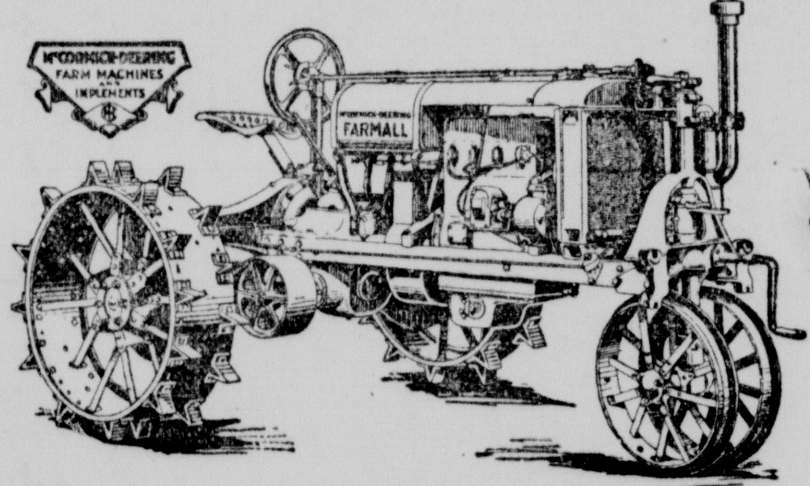

| (L) means laxative; (C) constipating. | | |

the expense of keeping them," Mr. Rhode said.

"The average cow in the state made $30 above cost of feed in 1929 with butterfat at 45 cents a pound according to the college's records of dairy herd improvement associations. With butterfat as low as 30 cents a pound this same cow would return but $2 a year above cost of feed."

"Butterfat would have to sell at approximately 63 cents a pound for the average cow to make as much return above cost of feed as would be made by cow producing 34 pounds of butterfat selling at 35 cents a pound."

"Many more farmers in the state could take their cue from a DeKalb county dairyman and not only improve their own efficiency but also help improve the dairy situation in general. He culled out six of his low producers and thereby increased his monthly herd average from 29.7 pounds of butterfat to 41.2 pounds saved feed and increased his net returns. In addition he kept off the market some milk and cream which were produced at relatively high cost by inefficient cows."

THE TEMPTATION OF AMBITION
"Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve."
—Luke 4:8. (Read Luke 1:26-33 and 4:5-8.)

Meditation
A successful man has described ambition as "thinking big" and says "it is as easy to think big as to think little." Jesus was thinking big that day in the wilderness. A great program unfolded before His mind's eye. Then came the subtle temptation. How should He go about His great task? Should He employ the means to a quick achievement? And He said, No. He would not be disloyal to God. Success was secondary to being right. Henry Clay said he would rather be right than president. Very often the choice has to be made between being successful and being right; there are crises in life when one cannot be both. Unfortunately for our young people the importance of success is too much emphasized.

Prayer
Our Father God, guard our thoughts against the illusion of evil ways. In faithfulness to Thy laws renew our strength. In Jesus' name. Amen.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—Check Stafford, Steve Kennedy, James Winslow, Connie Conrad, Edward Sotthower and C. E. Mitchell, all of Rochelle, accompanied United States Marshal Ben L. Berve to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas Saturday, with twenty-two Rockford, Ill., rum conspirators who will begin prison terms of one or two years. The men were handcuffed and wore legions. The men were sentenced last month after federal court trial of 58 residents of Rockford, or violation of the prohibition laws.

William D. Ferguson, 23, of Mt. Morris, who was arrested Saturday in Kansas City on a warrant for burglary issued from the sheriff's office, was returned to Oregon Thursday by Sheriff Frank Murray and Deputy L. Harn.

The warrant on Ferguson's arrest was sworn out by Roy Cratty, Mt. Morris clothing merchant, after Ferguson is alleged to have passed $412 worth of forged checks in Mt. Morris, December 21, 1930. Several names were forged although the name of Earl Diehl, prominent Mt. Morris farmer for whom Ferguson has worked, was signed on the majority of them. The checks were cashed on a Saturday night. Ferguson was not located until a friend turned over a letter from him from Kansas City last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Morrison of Rochelle are the parents of a daughter born at the Dixon Public hospital Thursday morning. Mr. Morrison is associated with his father in the building contractor firm of J. C. Morrison & Son.

Officer James Spaulding has returned to night police duty. He has been confined to his home for several months with sprained ankle. Plans are being made to hold a bench show of the DeKaib-Ogle Rabbit and Cavy Breeding Association in Rochelle next fall. The show will be of three days duration. Plans are being made to stage some kind of an entertainment this spring in order to secure the necessary opening finances to make the show possible. F. W. Warner is chairman of the committee and is assisted by Ben Berve of Rochelle and Walter Breuger of Lindenwood.

Neetrit club member and their husbands of DeKaib journeyed to Rochelle Wednesday night, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Countryman at the Rochelle Town and County club.

While Mrs. Countryman entertained her club guests, Mr. Countryman was host to the men. Mrs. Donald Patten received the favor for high score at the bridge table. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schuenberg were substitute players.

A lovely lunch was served at the club house, the men being included in this feature of the evening's program. The club will meet again in two weeks, with Mrs. Chauncey Schuyler as hostess.

A. B. Sheadle, president of the Rochelle National Bank, is ill. Mr. and Mrs. Seth W. Hoon and daughters, Betty and Holly, spent the week-end and holiday in Chicago. The trip was arranged to honor the birthday anniversaries of their daughters. Holly was six years old Friday.

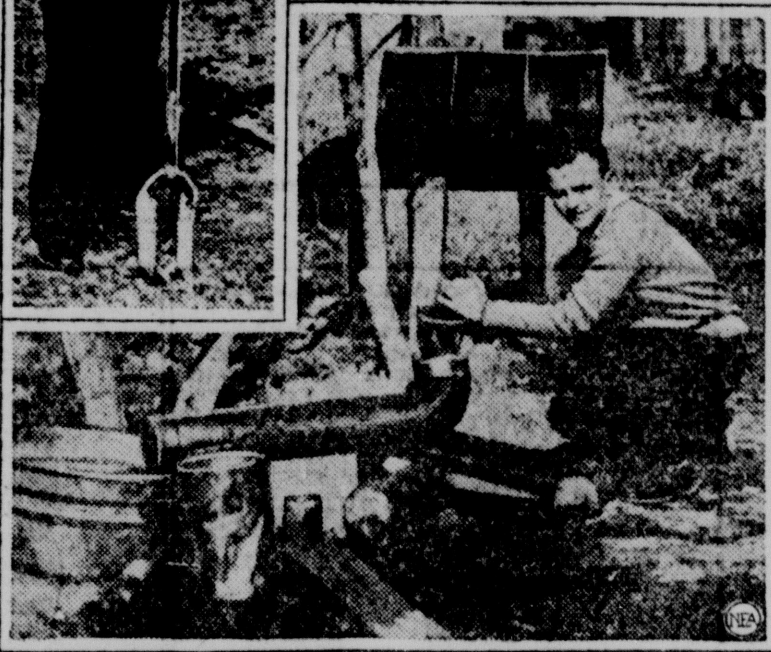

Bernard DeCoursey of Grand Rapids, Michigan, an old brother, Raymond, of Chicago, arrived in Rochelle Friday to attend the funeral of her father, James DeCoursey.

Margaret Krom of Ames, Iowa and her sister, Agnes Krom of Chicago, spent the week-end here with friends. The Men's Brotherhood of the

It's Pewee Oil Wells Now

Following, no doubt, in the wake of miniature or backyard golf, the backyard oil well has now burst on the scene—at Neodesha, Kan. where Russell Grockett, 17-year-old high school lad started drilling in his back yard with a post hole auger and struck oil at 20 feet. He now has two wells, and has taken 650 gallons from them by means of an old cast-iron pump, a stove pipe and a wash tub. At the left he is shown starting to drill a third miniature well; below he is pumping oil from his first well.

Girl Kills Father Protecting Mother

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(UP)—An 18-year-old girl killed her father today to save her mother from a beating. The girl, Harriet Schneider, was arrested and held for a coroner's investigation.

She told authorities that the father, Albert Schneider, 49, had been drinking heavily since he lost his teaming job six or seven months ago. "He came home drunk this morning and began calling my mother and myself names," Harriet said. "Then he picked up a chair and said he was going to show us both who was boss. I was afraid he would kill mother."

"We had a pistol hidden in a bedroom. I ran and got it and shot him." The girl fired four bullets into the father's body, an examination showed, killing him instantly.

The mother, Mrs. Jenny Schneider, called police.

Two other children, Alberta, 17, and Albert, 16, were away from home working.

Coast Guard Fought Three Rum Runners

Newport, R. I., Feb. 23.—(UP)—Coast Guards bombarded three alleged rum boats off the southern New England coast early today. One craft was scuttled by its crew, another was captured. The third escaped. What actually occurred in the darkness before dawn was disclosed by official Coast Guard reports after rumors had been circulated for hours to the effect that two rum runners had been sunk by Coast Guard gunfire.

The boat which was scuttled and sunk by its crew was the Alibi, prize craft of the New England rum fleet.

It carried a liquor cargo estimated to be worth $25,000.

The craft captured was the Monolola, said by Coast Guards to be owned by the Al Capone interests.

The third vessel, which escaped under fire was the Nova Scotia schooner Accuracy.

Springtime—And a Young Man's Fancy Turns to Baseball

A spring training period for all the "bushers" in the San Francisco district is one method the Seals of the Pacific Coast League use in picking up O'Douls, Lazzeris, Cronins, Hafeys, Heilmanns and Kremers. Pictured above is a part of more than 80 ambitious kids availing a chance so that the Seal management may separate the heavy hitters from the heavy eaters. The most promising youngsters get tryouts against the Seal veterans when the actual training season gets under way.

RAILROAD SCHOOL ORGANIZED

Toronto, Ont.—(UP)—A railroad classroom this spring will carry the latest agricultural information to farming districts of southwestern Ontario, under the auspices of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Both of the great Canadian railroads and the Pere Marquette have cooperated in making up the "Soils and Crops Train" and will haul it over their lines without charge.

An ancient Roman flour mill uncovered near Pompeii has been restored and placed in the Field Museum, Chicago.

Insured and Assured

Metropolitan policyholders—including about one-fifth of the total populations of United States and Canada—have built up their reserves from millions into billions.

THE financial story below is a record of achievement by men and women who are planning to avert want or to build estates. You may admire their steadfastness of purpose last year under handicaps which tested courage.

These people—policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company—are building for their future. They would like to know what the future holds in store for them and for the country as a whole.

Let them, and other citizens, examine any chart of our country's unparalleled prosperity over the past hundred years. It appears, not merely as a jagged line, but as a series of towering steps which rise steadily onward and upward.

It is heartening now to recall that, after each depression, our country has always gone forward to greater heights of prosperity and better, sounder standards of living. Today this country has more riches and better facilities than ever before with which to commence her next great period of development.

A review of the financial history of the United States since it was founded in 1783 should turn any pessimist into an optimist.

The Metropolitan will gladly mail, free, a booklet, "The Development of Prosperity in America", telling of past ups and downs—and ups again—and how soon the "ups" followed.

WALKER-RISKO MATCH TONIGHT AT MIAMI ARENA

Is the Feature Bout Scheduled On This Week's Fight Program

By ALAN GOULD

Miami, Fla., Feb. 24—(AP)—Promoter "Pa" Strubling will try to pry the lid off the 1931 heavyweight outdoor season tonight with a card featuring Mickey Walker and Johnny Risko in the round final, besides exhibition performances by the forthcoming championship rivals Young Strubling and Max Schmeling.

He expects 25,000 customers to contribute $50,000 to $60,000 at the bargain scale of $2 to $5.

If it rains tonight, the show will be Wednesday night.

There was no hitch in the arrangements otherwise, Strubling said, despite mysterious reports, emanating from New York, that a cancellation was likely. These reports appeared more concerned with the fate of the return Carnera-Maloney bout, scheduled as the second of the winter's festive festivals in the Madison Square Garden arena here on March 5.

Ever since a crack developed in Carnera's tenth rib, the boys have been skeptical, despite the flat statements of Promoter Frank J. Bruen that under no circumstances would he consider calling his show off. The fires have been shuttling messages back and forth between those pulling the strings for this year's heavyweight program. With Carnera signed to meet the winner of the Strubling-Schmeling bout in a second title contest in September, it is no secret in the Italian's board of managers, led by Bill Duffy, have no desire to run unnecessary risks.

Walker and Risko meanwhile are ready for just an old-fashioned socking bee. Walker won the last time this pair collided in Detroit, but Risko, with a 25 pound pull in the weights, looks to be in condition to spring one of his typical upsets.

The preliminaries tonight, including five six rounders, are slated for 8 P. M., the main go at 10.

SPORT BRIEFS

New York, Feb. 24—(UP)—Jim Londos of Greece still was heavyweight wrestling champion of New York today as a result of his victory over Jim McMillen, one time University of Illinois football star, in a match at Madison Square Garden last night.

A crowd of 22,000 persons paid $60, 216 to see Londos pin the challenger after 49 minutes and 15 seconds of wrestling.

Chicago, Feb. 24—(UP)—One of the features of the dinner honoring Bobby Jones at the Medinah Athletic Club Thursday night will be the "Table of Champions." Avery Brundage, president of the A. A. U., said today. Among those who will be seated at the "Champions' table" are Betty Robinson, Walter Lauffer, Anton Burg, Bob King, Helen Pluke, Jane Fautz and Levi Casey. Jones will be presented with the James E. Sullivan Memorial medal at the dinner.

Chicago, Feb. 24—(UP)—The controversy arising from the Tuffy Griffiths-King Levinsky heavyweight bout planned for March 6 at the Chicago Stadium reached the Illinois State Athletic Commission today.

Ray Alvis, Levinsky's manager, has attempted to withdraw from the bout, but Nate Lewis, matchmaker for the Stadium, contends that the Stadium has fulfilled its part of the contract and that Levinsky must do the same.

Jack O'Keefe, Griffiths' manager, declared he would ask the commission to make Levinsky post a $5,000 forfeit to insure his appearance for the match.

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONERS

THE TIGERS once played a game against Cleveland that they could not have won even had they scored a thousand runs. Detroit had three catchers. Two were used up in the first seven innings. Larry Woodall, the last catcher, went in the eighth, a pinch-runner having been used for Johnny Bassler. In the ninth, Woodall argued with Umpire Clarence Rowland and was chased. Detroit had no one left except Coach Fred Carisch (not eligible to play) to go behind the bat. Carisch finally had to go in and the game went on. Glenn Myatt won it for Cleveland in the twelfth with a homer. Had Detroit won, the game would have been awarded to Cleveland, 9 to 0, because Detroit could not put a team on the field.

WILDCATS TRIM GOPHERS WITH STARTLING EASE

And Thereby About Cinch Championship Or Dig Ten

Chicago, Feb. 24—(AP)—The remainder of the Western Conference basketball looks like just a formality after what Northwestern did to Minnesota last night.

Northwestern, needing any kind of a victory over the second place Gophers, to virtually assure itself of the championship, stepped out to win and made it as impressive as possible—45 to 23. The Wildcats got away in front and improved their margin all the way.

Northwestern today led the Big Ten with nine victories and one defeat; with Minnesota second, with seven victories and three reverses. Purdue hopped into a tie with Michigan for third place by defeating the Wolverines, 30 to 21, at LaFayette. The Boilermaker victory squared accounts for the season, Michigan having won at Ann Arbor.

Illinois' rejuvenated outfit racked up its fifth straight triumph, mauling, 39 to 25, at Bloomington, to balance its season account to date. Wisconsin, outplayed on the floor, but exhibiting rare accuracy from the foul line, defeated Ohio State, 28 to 24, at Madison. The Badgers were outscored from the field, 10 goals to six, but canned 16 charity shots to gain the edge.

Minnesota's only chance of sharing in the title rests on Northwestern dropping its two remaining games, while the Gophers win both of theirs. Minnesota will play Purdue at Purdue Saturday, while Northwestern goes to Ohio State. Michigan will play its return game at Wisconsin, and Indiana will meet Chicago at Chicago.

Legislator Agent In Bonds Return

St. Louis, Feb. 23—(UP)—Joseph A. Lemon, member of the state legislature, credited with carrying out negotiations for the return of $822,000 in bonds stolen in a burglary of the Grand National Bank's vaults here last May, has admitted he was representing the bonding company.

Lemon said he was commissioned by the Fidelity & Deposit Company of Maryland to meet representatives of the burglars to arrange return of the bonds. He said the negotiations were completed at a point in Illinois a short distance from St. Louis.

THE CALL OF THE OUTDOORS

GIFTS TO CONSERVATION

Up to this time, the chief outlet for the funds of wealthy men has been gifts to education. But the term "education" has a broad significance today, and conservation is assuredly an important factor in education for service to the nation.

Men of means are sure to appreciate soon the appeal that they should give back to nature some of the riches nature has given them. And it is important that they do so. For centuries men have been drawing upon the storehouses of nature, without putting anything back. A depleted nature means—if not starvation—at least a material reduction in creature comforts for all of us. Universal bankruptcy lies that way.

In making a bequest the guiding thought may well be, of what value will it be to the people at large—how many people will it benefit. When the Isaac Walton League has been made the beneficiary, the idea of a particular class or special group is eliminated. Such a bequest is all-inclusive, benefiting everyone within the field of its service, independent of religious affiliations, or political preferences, independent of youth or old age. The outdoors is for all, and any improvement in the outdoors is of universal benefit.

Take for example one phase of League work—its anti-pollution campaigns. The evils of stream pollution are being piled up with amazing rapidity. The defilement of our waters, far from being merely a case of damage to aquatic life and a limitation of recreational facilities, is recognized by public health boards as a genuine menace to human life.

Many of the lakes, streams and rivers which are now foul with manufacturing and municipal wastes, can be brought back to the same crystalline purity that they knew in the days of Marquette, De Soto and La Salle. The League has led and continues to lead the way in opposing the progress of pollution, and in instituting measures for its correction.

The League is preserving scenery and protecting natural beauty against vandalism and destruction. After all, the beauty of the wilderness is a national asset. Its moral value cannot be questioned. Its physical value is beyond price. We will continue to need wilderness spots close at hand in years to come, and for this the League is making wise provision now.

Avalon, Calif., Feb. 24—(AP)—The Chicago Cub squad was completely assembled on Catalina Island today, but members of the second delegation were not scheduled to work. Manager Rogers Hornsby planned another six inning contest between the Pat Malones and the Gabby Hartnett, but will call all hands out tomorrow.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 24—(AP)—Having given the new ball a preliminary test, Tom Clarke, veteran coach of the New York Giants, comes up with the opinion that it's as lively as ever.

"There may be better pitching this year and more accurate throwing by the fielders," says Clarke, "but the ball travels so far as ever. There won't be so much wildness on the mound but the line drives will be just as wild as ever."

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 24—(AP)—The New York Yankees, who in the past have boasted of some of the heartiest eaters in major league baseball, are bearing up as well as might be expected under the shock of hearing that they are to be limited to two meals a day during spring training.

"Marse Joe" McCarthy, new Yankee manager, has ordered his charges to forego the customary noon meal and do all their eating in the morning and evening.

Paso Robles, Cal., Feb. 24—(AP)—Any Pittsburgh Pirate with some golf in his system must get it out before the National League pennant chase starts.

The advance squad today had it straight from Manager Jewel Ems that:

"The minute the regular big league season begins I believe the niblick and maulie should be laid on the shelf."

"The fellow who goes over nine or more holes of golf in the morning cannot do justice to himself on the diamond the same afternoon," Ems said.

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 24—(AP)—The University of Illinois baseball team will play eight games on its annual southern trip this spring. Coach Carl Lundgren today announced that the schedule will open against Mississippi A. & M., March 28, and will close with the University of Kentucky April 6.

The schedule: March 28, at Mississippi A. & M.; March 30-31, at University of Mississippi; April 1-2, at University of Alabama; April 6, at University of Kentucky.

Steve Skelton, catcher for the Independents, who has played with several local semi-pro baseball clubs, is also sought this spring. Manager Roper of the Rock Island club of the Mississippi Valley Circuit is trying to interest Steve to the extent that he will report for a trial when the club assembles later in the spring. Skelton has not yet decided whether he will report or not.
